Appendix 3 - Draft classification and prioritisation of Active Travel routes

Classification of routes

Routes are designated by the importance of the connections they make within the network, they are classified into the following categories:

Primary routes: The key connections between neighbourhoods/residential areas and a town or city centre; routes between districts and neighbourhoods; links to main public transport interchanges; other cycle routes which are (or which have the potential to be) used by many cyclists;

Secondary routes: These link between the primary routes; links to trip attractors such as schools, colleges, employment sites; cycle routes which are an attractor for a more limited range of users; links to local public transport interchanges and stops; other routes which may cater for fewer cycle journeys than the primary routes but are still of strategic importance within the network
Network planning and map preparation;

Local routes: All other all-purpose roads, greenways and bridleways that are not necessarily part of a designated route (e.g. many residential streets). This basic network of local routes, although lower in the hierarchy, forms an important part of the cycle network.
