The Neath Port Talbot Public Services Board published its second Well-being Plan for the county borough in May 2023, following a comprehensive assessment of the well-being of the local population and extensive consultation and engagement with a wide range of stakeholders.

Section 45 of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 sets out requirements for local public services boards to prepare and publish annual progress reports. S 45 (1) states:

‘A public services board must prepare and publish a report – no later than 14 months after the publications of its local well-being plan, and subsequently no later than one year after the publication of each previous report ..’

S 45 (3) states:

‘A report under this section must specify the steps taken since the publication of the board’s most recent local well-being plan to meet the objectives set out in the plan.’

Summary

In preparing its second Plan, the PSB reflected on the findings of the Wellbeing Assessment and agreed to adopt the Council’s four well-being objectives as a framework. These are outlined below:

- All children will have the best start in life
- All our communities are thriving and sustainable
- Our local environment, culture and heritage can be enjoyed by future generations

- There are more secure, green and well paid jobs and that skills across the area are improved

Pages 8-19 set out progress made on the well-being objectives during 2023-24. This includes plans to measure impact and next steps. Also included is some information on how we are working on each well-being objective in accordance with the sustainable development principle as set out in the Act.

Valleys Communities Impact

Legal Impact

To meet the statutory requirements contained within Section 45 (1) and (3) of the Wellbeing of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015).

Risk Management

Failure to approve and publish the Annual Report could potentially lead to the Future Generations Commissioner exercising powers to conduct a review into the extent to which the PSB (where the Leader and Chief Executive are members) are meeting duties under the Act which could lead to action also by Welsh ministers. This could impact on the Council's reputation and also lead to additional resources being required to meet the duties.

Consultation

There is no requirement for external consultation on this item

Recommendation

For Members to note the Annual report of the Public Services Board and to indicate whether future scrutiny of aspects of the report should feature in the Forward Work Programme.
